Dear Gabby,

Firstly, I want to compliment you on your professionalism and the ‘welcoming’ personal persona you always present on TV. You are one of the top Sports presenters and are always on top of things, whether it’s football, rugby or anything else. I really enjoy the way you keep your guests in line – they know who’s in charge!!

Secondly, I think that you may know something about me already, and because of this, I am writing to you to request help and information, in what is obviously (for me) and it seems for everyone else, a very complicated and difficult situation.

I find myself in the following position:

It appears that I have been the focus of covert attention by the Security Services of the British State for at least 20 years, for reasons unknown. For all of this time, and more, I have been put under all-pervading covert surveillance, had my whole life broadcast on the internet to the world, and had to put up with a huge campaign (imposed by agencies and technology organisations internationally) of digital impersonation in all sorts of ways.

It is also the case, in my estimation, that in the 2010’s I was illegally operated on without my knowledge, and a number of bioelectronic devices were implanted in various parts of my body. These devices, along with the covert audio and video surveillance appear to provide inputs to a remote digital AI system which can be used to generate automatically an infinite of digital simulations which can be easily modified to suit any changes or developments.

It seems also to be the case that international security services are involved in this situation, including, I believe, the CIA and NSA, as well as similar agencies in Europe and worldwide. It’s all very peculiar!!!

The focus of all of this seems to be an obsessive desire to control me and my life.

I have tried everything I can think of to escape from this metaphorical prison, where my rights and freedoms are completely disregarded by the British State and their allies, but to no avail. Because I have no privacy, they always remain one step ahead, and the people who are in charge of these activities are ruthless, to the point of psychopathy, subjecting me day-and-night to what amounts to psychological torture. I have even been subjected to 'imprisonment' in mental hospitals for more than 24 months in total, despite there being nothing wrong with me.

My response to all of this has been to identify which parts of the British State system are responsible, and using my platform, which provides video and audio access to the general public (worldwide) to promote ideas for change, in particular in Britain, which would go a long way, in my view, to preventing this sort of collective personal attack on an individual citizen from happening again.

I believe that it is likely that you are aware of my situation (as it seems are many people worldwide!) so this letter may not come as a surprise. What I need more than anything, is a full disclosure of what has been done to me for the past 20+ years. Can I ask that you and perhaps anyone else within BBC Sports (and your wider circle of contacts) who are either sympathetic to my personal predicament, or may share my wider objectives, engage with me to help resolve the situation in the best positive manner, with the best positive outcomes?

If you would be kind enough to respond, then you can write (although I'm not sure that my post is secure) or you can email to stevekrupa@gmx.co.uk.

Thank you for taking the time to consider my difficulties and I wish you well in all your activities.

Warmest regards

Steve Krupa
